Is the Cheque in the Mail? Don't Let the Mail Strike Interrupt your Business

Winnipeg--With the mail strike; how is your business going to receive your payments? What about sending payments to your suppliers or time sensitive remittances to Revenue Canada?

Telpay enables companies of any size to send and receive electronic payments. By sending payments (bill payments, payroll, government remittances, etc.) and receiving payments electronically, companies do not need to rely on the post office to send and receive payments.

Send Payments Electronically

The ability to pay anyone electronically, within Canada and the rest of the world, sets Telpay apart. Telpay maintains the banking information of registered billers, making it easier to pay electronically. Telpay for Business has features like accounting system integration, international payments and remote approval. Telpay will save your company time and money and you will also be able to avoid mail delays as a result of the postal strike.

Receive Payments Electronically

Receiving payments electronically is as easy as signing up to be a Telpay Biller and informing customers that your business wants to be paid electronically. By placing the Telpay button on electronic invoices or your website your customers can pay electronically by clicking on the button.

Imagine; no more cheques, envelopes, postage, or worrying about mail strikes. With Telpay, it is business as usual. For more see:
